SUBJECT: Kentucky Highway Functional Classification Request

Jefferson

Oldham

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) is responsible for maintaining and updating a functional classification system for all roadways in the Commonwealth. The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) sets the classification criteria and approves each State’s system to establish a consistently-defined roadway network across the United States.

Shelby

Spencer

Trimble

While KYTC may make adjustments to the system as needed, most changes are made following each decennial census and corresponding update of the FHWA Adjusted Urban Area (FAUA) boundaries in each urban area:

Indiana
Member
Counties

- The 2010 Louisville/Jefferson County, KY-IN FAUA boundary was approved by FHWA in 2014, necessitating a review of the functional classification system to determine if changes were necessary due to expansion or contraction of the FAUA boundary.
- Population and employment growth or loss, development or elimination of major traffic generators, other land use changes, and addition or closure of roadway facilities prompted upgrades or downgrades in functional classification.
- Changes were also warranted due to FHWA’s recent addition of a Minor Collector classification category in urban areas. (Previously, all roadways functioning as Collectors in urban areas were classified as one category—Collectors. This category has now split into Major Collectors and Minor Collectors.)

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet requested input to this process from its Highway District Offices and the MPOs. Attached is a listing of suggested roadway system functional classification changes.

Action is requested.
